Pin your faith to the Oboy grocer

The health of your family and the success of your meals depend a great deal on your grocer. Discriminating women are learning to patronize the grocers who sell Oboy Bread. That's because stores that are so very careful about their most important product can be expected to be responsible in all their other departments.

Consider the reasons why you'll find Oboy in the finest stores everywhere. It's baked, molded, and packed under super-sanitary conditions. Its flavor cries "more" with every bite. It toasts to a cracklybrown crispness that turns breakfast into a banquet. And children love it. "Flighty" appetites clamor for its strength building good-a line of ready-to-wear and accessories that is not surpassed anywhere in the south.

Opening of the establishment was scheduled for several weeks ago, the delay being caused by failure to complete the store any sooner, and the company-has been operating in temporary headquarters at 238-240 Peachtree street during that time.

The store will be under the management of R. H. Davis, who has been assistant manager of H. G. Lewis & Co. for the past seven years. He has had a wide experience in connection with the operation of women's apparel shops, and feels that the new sore will prove very popular in Atlanta.

H. Glenn McNair will assist Mr. Davis in the management of the store; and the accessories department, including bags, hose, underwear, cotume jewelry and negligees, will be under the direction of F. A. Sheram.

The new store, with its modernistic furnishings and fixtures, will be a place of beauty. Everywhere is the modernistic note emphasized, and Mr. Davis says that this is expressive of the company's policy in the lines of merchandise it will show.

The show windows and entrance are attractive in the extreme, being large and spacious in addition to portraying beauty. The windows are done in etched glass with silver trimmings and their unique arrangement is a point in favor of the unusual.

Inside the finish is walnut, two tones of green predominating the color scheme throughout. The fixtures are in keeping with the newest developments for stores of this class and lend a pleasing appearance over all The lighting fixtures are modernistic. In its entirety the establishment is very similar to the exclusive Fifth Avenue shops in New York, and is considered a distinct addition to the Peachtree street shopping district. All of the departments are conveniently located on the first floor.

Mr. Davis says that the store's sle gan, "Always the new and the smart at the lowest possible price," will be strictly observed in every respect.

VALUABLE GOOD'S TAKEN BY THIEVES IN PHARMACY RAID

Burglars who entered the Fulton Pharmacy early Friday morning and looted the store of merchandise valued at $568 and $30 in cash were evidently at home and not afraid of being caught, according to the owner, Dr. A. H. Drucker, 418 Ninth street, who A. H. Drucker, 418 Ninth street, who said that he found two empty ginger ale bottles and the remnants of some cakes on his desk. DIAMOND BAR PIN IS LOST BY WIFE OF CITY'S MAYOR

Establishment Is Considered
Distinct Addition to Shopping District

R. H. Davis & Co., Inc., catering to Atlanta's exclusive women's trade, will open in its attractive new store at 199 Peachtree street this morning with a line of ready-to-wear and accessories

His honor, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, and Atlanta's first lady, Mrs. Ragsdale, Friday turned their attention from official duties to search for a valuable diamond bar pin which Mrs. Ragsdale lost Thursday. The pin is one of Mrs. Ragsdale's favorites and was presented to her by Mr. Ragsdale as a Christmas present several years ago.

It has a platinum top and is set with five diamonds. On the back is inscribed the number "37." A liberal reward has been offered for its return to the executive offices at the city hall.

CARL MILLIKEN WILL SPEAK HERE ON 'BETTER FILMS'

Carl E. Milliken, former governor of Maine and secretary of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, will be a guest of the Atlanta Better Films Committee October 22-23, it was announced Friday.

Mr. Milliken will be the principal speaker at a "better films luncheon" at Hotel Ansley, October 23. County School Superintendent Willis A. Sutton, Mayor Ragsdale, local theater managers and members of the Film Board of Trade will be present.

ATTEMPTS TO BAR JUSTICE CHARGED TO HENRY NORTON

TO HENRY NORTON

Acts tending to obstruct honest and fair administration of justice were charged to Henry J. Norton Friday in a petition filed by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin in Fulton superior court seeking to have Norton adjudged in contempt of court for alleged activities in behalf of Carl Lancaster, who is serving a sentence for an alleged assault upon a young woman. The petition filed by Solicitor-General Boykin alleges that while the case was pending and supersedeas was in effect. Norton made overtures to the young woman, her relatives and employer, seeking to engage their aid in a plan to pay $3,000 to settle the prosecution and to get the girl to change her testimony in the Lancaster case. The father of the girl threatened to use a hammer on Norton, the petition alleges.

Judge E. D. Thomas signed a rule nisi requiring Norton to show cause on November 4 why he should not be held for contempt of court.

TWELVE CALLONS

TWELVE GALLONS OF "BREW" COST

ON MURDER CHARGE

Los Angeles, October 18.—(A)—Contradictions and denials were flung with startling rapidity into the trial of Alexander Pantages today as the delenge and one of its witnesses fought warily the state's charges of perjury and a statutory offense.

The first stone wall attempt of the defense to clear the multi-millionaire theatrical man of Eunice Pringle's accusation that he attacked her in his private offices last August 9 was completed with the last of testimony from tour medical experts.

Ta a second move, the defense drew testimony from Jake Rosenatein, a 20-year-old problem of the defense of the state of fices and the had seen Miss Pringle in Pantages of fifees at least once a week and until late hours from May 1 to August 9. Miss Pringle, who is a dancer, claimed she had been there but three times.

The scene changed from Pantages fight to that of a man who testified to a blackmail frameup by Miss Pringle and was arrested for perjury. Garland Biffle, law book salesman.

Confronted with the affidavit and testimony of a Stockton, Cal., attorney, L. A. Mills, that he had made a statement repudaiting his own testimony, Biffle dismissed the question with the reply: "I don't recall it. Later, under state hammering, he admitted most of Mills' declaration but explained that it referred to the actual crime and not the frameup.

Call Analysis Faulty.

Dr. D. H. Gibbs and Dr. D. W. Dakin, bacteriological experts, testified earlier that conclusions and opinions cited by a police chemist, Rex Welch, who appeared for the state, regarding germ specimens of the two principlas in the case was "impossible" and "faulty."

Their assertions supplemented the testimony of two other physicians, Dr. Sterling Pierce and Dr. Peter Sunden, who vesterday said examinations of Miss Pringle made at the request of the state four days after the alleged attack revealed no evidence of a criminal offense.

Biffle, ant liberty on $7,000 bond, was recalled by the state toward the and of the day. Before his annearance of the state of the control of Mills said Biffle told him he had been subpoenaed by the defense but did not understand why they wanted him.

Mills quoted him: "I don't know a thing about the case. I was in the Pantages building (scene of the alleged attack) at the time but I didn't see anything or hear anything."

Statements Contradict.

This was in direct contradiction of Biffle's testimony that he heard Miss Pringle tell Nicholas Duneav, a playwright, as she entered the theater lobby the afternoon of August 9, that Pantages would be sorry if he did not book her dancing act.

"I had a talk with Mills but I don't recall all of that conversation," Biffle admitted the fruth of other parts of the statement under crossex amination. He said he was served with a subposens by a coffee salesman.

Catarrh Robs Patient Of Vital Resistance

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with catarrh of the mose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious discenses. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing, thus preventing proper purification of the blood by the lungs and also prevents refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to diseases such as head and chest colds. Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Toronto, October 18 .- (AP)-Organ ized labor's views on a vast variety of issues of general and trade import were registered today at concluding sessions of the American Federation of Labor's annual convention.

It was well into the night when William Green, federation president, pronounced his benediction in adjournment, urging his auditors to center fire against use of injunctions in labor disputes.

Opposition to committee proposals of the injunction issue, though bitterly pressed in today's debate, recorded almost no strength in the voting. The federation was committed to willingness to see the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws repealed or amended and to the advocacy before congress of a measure limiting the power of federal judges to issue re-straining orders or injunctions in labor disputes. The sharpest clash of the day was occasioned by a committee proposal to arm the executive council with authority to state trade union views on tariff matters. This roused Andrew Furuseth, Seamen's union president to declare himself "astounded at such a resolution," and to charge the ex-ecutive council with "arming the ecutive council with "arming the most reactionary members of the United States senate" with tariff ar-

JUSTICE ON THE SHORT END. The most phlegmatic element in our system of government seems to be judicial procedure. Especially is it apparent in the mechanism of administering justice in criminal courts. All over the nation there is popular protest against the slow motion, the lost motion, the long delays, technical obstructions and inane methods of securing juries, with the consequent evaporations of real justice. The people know that the lawvers, who mostly dominate our legislatures, are responsible for the continuance of those barnacles, but how to reform the lawyers into a disposition to make the courts efficient in administering the essential principles of legal justice, they do not know. The only remedy suggested is to bar lawyers from all law-making bodies. But that I cure would be worse than the diseases of the judicial ox-cart. It would leave legislation largely to ignorant and incompetent amateurs. Our legislatures need the services of honorable lawyers trainthe center and gable-ends abutting ed in the proceedings of law-mak-

My dear Louise: Would it surprise you to learn that thousands of women in this land handicap, poison and eventually kill the men they love?

It's a fact. They do it in ignorance, but the result is just as tragic as though they had planned it in malice.

We are a nation without good cooks. Our national vice is frying And the result is a rich harvest for sanitariums, "nerve specialists" and the makers of nostrums designed to cure indigestion. Any good doctor will tell you, if your schoolbooks haven't, that nine-tenths of all human ills can be traced to the colon and the stomach, and that all of these have their origin in faulty diet.

Let that sink in. Nine-tenths of the ills suffered by men and chilare due to the incompetence of your sex.

You took one year of domestic science in the public school, and it. You learned to do simple sewing and talked glibly of calories and vitamines; but the little you know is just sufficient to ruin some man's digestive system if you marry without further experience in the It isn't fair. No man can win your respect and love unless he is successful—unless he knows how to bring home the bacon. And yet you will make a mess of cooking the bacon after he brings it—unless you buckle down and learn something now.

Don't get the foolish modern notion that cooking is an undignified task for menials. A good cook ranks just as high as a good physicianand does more good. The scientist who finds a cure for disease is honored by the world, and those who prevent disease rank with the great. You know that.

Well, the woman who keeps her household healthy by providing a balanced, appealing and easily digested diet is doing the same great work on a smaller scale and has equal reason to be proud of her skill. Learn to cook, Honey. Prepare yourself to give some man and your own children a square deal. If you marry one rich enough to hire a dozen cooks, your knowledge of food values will come in handy still—for cooks you can hire are enemies of the human race.

Don't think I'm joking, Dear. It's the woman's job to manage her household wisely and keep its members in the pink of condition.

If you don't train yourself to handle the job well, you will cheat and handicap the man who devotes his life to you.

The appendix in man has no known function now. It may have been s part of the digestive tract in man at some remote time in the past, but at present it serves no purpose, even in early infancy. Certain other structures that have lost or are in process of losing their usefulness, their function, are the tonsils, the wisdom teeth, the gall bladder and the muscles that wiggle the ears. From the type of tissue composing the tonsils we may reasonably assume that these bodies, along with the pharyngeal or third noid body, may still contribute toward defense against infections entering by way of digestive or respiratory tracts, at least in infancy and early child-hood. But in adults the tonsils serve largely to word that rains had given some relief to drought districts in Argentina, wheat prices here reacted lower, downturns were experienced the face of announcement that North American wheat export business today totaled as much as 1,250,000 bushels, about half of which was hard winter wheat from the United States. Houses with connections northwest ar.' east took the lead in future delivery selling that contrasted with at least temporary felling-off in the amount of new speculative buying.

Closing quotations here for wheat were unsettled, 5-8c to 1c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 3-4c to 1-18c down, outs ranging from 1-8c decline to 1-8c to 1-4c advance, and provisions unchanged to rise of 20c.

In addition to word of needed rain-

Company of the co falls in Argentina, sellers of wheat received impetus today from talk cur-rent that although North American wheat exports showed considerable enwheat exports showed considerable en-largement the total compared to what has long been looked for was disap-pointingly small. On the whole, too, Argentine wheat supply estimates to-day were less stimulating to buyers than was the case yesterday, despite 1.2 fact that one firm here had fig-ures today tending to show that the actual exportable surplus of wheat in Argentina at present is only 18,650, 000 bushels, meanwhile forecasts to-day of the exportable surplus of Ar-gentine wheat from the 1929 crop-yet in the fields ranged from 150,-000,000 bushels to 184,000,000 bushels. Transient upturns that were wit-nessed at times in wheat prices here today came about more or less as a result of unexpected higher quotations at Liverpool. Besides, early advices from Argentina were to the effect that a large part of the wheat crop-there is now in the milk stage, and there is now in the milk stage, and that the outlook had become precarithat the outlook had become precarious owing to widespread dearth of rain. During the first part of the day, too, selling here consisted chiefly of profit-taking for yesterday's lowers, but pressure increased decidedly after word arrived of rains in Argentina, and evidence grew that the market was devoid of aggressive support from new buyers.

Increasing arrivals of new corn today offset to A large extent the in-day offset to a large extent the in-fluence of active shipping demand here for corn. Scantiness of offerings Provisions were responsive to advances in the value of hege.

New York, October 18.—(P)—United States government securities, investment rails and numerous utilities presented a strong front in the bond market today and gains were widespread and liberal. Foreign obligations participated to a lesser extent in the upturn and industrials showed considerable strength.

Easier time money contributed to the improved sentiment. Thirty-day loans were quoted at 71-4 per cent, while the rates on all other maturities were 71-2 to 7 3-4 per cent.

Treasury certificates developed outstanding buoyancy. The 41-4s were up more than 18-32s. The 3-3-4s advanced 19-32s and the 4s gained 16-32s. Liberty 3 1-2s improved about 3-88 and the first and fourth 4-4s showed smaller rises.

Advances of 1 to 2 points and gains of 1-2 to 1 point and a few inactive rails showed maximum rises of 5.

Utilities were well taken. The new $22.000,000 issue of Southern Bell Telephone first 5s, offered this foremon at 100, was admitted to trading on a when issued basis and quickly commanded a 1-point premium. After a moderately active session the bond was kellectric 4s soared 13-4, Utah Light & Traction 5s advanced 2 and West Penn Power 5s, series E, mounted 2-1-4. Fraction in New York Telephone of North American Edison 5-1-2s, American Telephone collateral 5s and Columbia Gas & Electric 5s. Louisville Gas & Electric 5s. Louisville Gas & Electric 5s. Louisville Gas & Electric 5s. Indiana Limestone 6s, International Match 1-4s showed smaller rises.

Advances of 1 to 2 points and even more, were fairly common in the rails. Loans advancing to that extent included Central of Georgia 5s, Chesapeake & Ohio refunding 4 1-2s, Chicapo & Northwestern 4 3-4s, Illiand United States of the summary of the same of 10. The new total to trading on a when issued basis and quickly commanded a 1-point premium. After a moderately active session the bond commarded a 1-point premium. After a moderately active sessi

New York, October 18.—(4)—A continuance of good weather and the record-breaking into sight movement were reflected by further declines in the cotton market today. December sold off to 17.85 or 11 points net lower and all positions made new low ground for the movement but there was a good deal of trade buying and covering for over the week-end which caused rallies in the later trading. De-cember closed at 17.93 or 8 points up from the lowest and the general market closed steady, net 6 points lower to 2 points higher.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 7 points under southern and local selling. Reports of continued good weather for teking and marketing seemed to off-et relatively steady cables from Liv-pool, but there was a good deal of rade buying at the start and probably some local buying on an idea that the market's technical position would re-sult in week-end railies. At any rate, the early offerings were quite greadily absorbed and the market worked up everal points during the early trading with December and later deliveries elling about 4 to 6 points net higher. selling about 4 to 6 points net higher.
October was relatively easy under liquidation which was attributed to the circulation notices representing about 4,700 bales, but stiffened up a few points with the rest of the list. This bulge met continued southern selling, however, and the market weakened during the afternoon under a renewal of local selling or liquidation promoted by the big into sight figures and a feeling that with a continuance promoted by the big into sight figures and a feeling that with a continuance of good weather there might be some increase in estimates of the crop.

Into sight, for the week according to the figures of the New York Cotton Exchange, amounted to 972,995 bales against 951,905 for the same week last year, which was the previous high record. October contracts sold off to 17.60 and March to 18.25 before this decline was checked by covering oc trade buying, but there seemed to be a considerable demand at these figures and closing quotations seemed to be a considerable demand at these figures and closing quotations showed rallies of 6 to 5 points from the lowest on active positions. Liverpool reported that Bombay buying and trade calling had absorbed hedging and liquidation in that mar-

NEW LOWS HIT

AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, October 18. (A) Cotton prices today again made new lows for the present movement due to continued good weather in the belt and absence of speculative interest in the market. In final trading shorts covered and last prices showed a small net loss. December, after declining to 17.75, rallied and closed at 17.85, or 3 points net lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 1 to 3 points.

Liverpool cables were 4 to 6 points better than due and resulted in a steadier opening here. Initial trades continued good weather in the belt and

Liverpool cables were 4 to 6 points better than due and resulted in a steadier opening here. Initial trades showed gains of 5 points and soon after the start December traded to 17.95. January 18.04 and March 18.32, or 7 to 7 points above the previous close.

Later prices eased off under renewed hedging and liquidation which was augmented by selling on the continued good weather which was expected to facilitate harvesting. Lack of speculative interest in the market aided the easier tone, which by noon carried January to 17.85 and March Cannon Mills

The market opened lower, was inclined to rally for a time, and then as merely indicating a lack of demand. There was little in the day's news to influence the market. Earnings of Hudson Motor for the third quarter were announced at $1.77 per share, as compared to $3.79 in the previous quarter, but this had been foreshadowed by developments in the motor industry generally. Other earnings statements appearing were generally favorable.

market liquidation has been for forseign account. Commodity markets were also reactionary. Wheat lost about a cent a bushel on bearish Kansas crop reports and weakness at Winnipeg, while corn sagged about as much in response to higher Argentine estimate. Cotton futures were depressed for a time, but rallied to close steady on trade buying and week-end covering.

past twenty-five years, while the population of the United States has increased only 50%, an even greater future lies ahead of this century old industry.

Gas has rightfully taken its place as the automaticfuel for the automatic age. New Associated System residential and industrial uses are being developed each year and gas main extensions are making the service available to an ever increasing number of homes and factories.

Within the past few years the gas refrigerator has been perfected and has opened

ALTHOUGH the sales of manufactured an entirely new field for the development of the industry. The added revenue from this source and from the growing use of gas for house heating, water heating and incineration - all will contribute to future prosperity of the gas industry.

Actively engaged in increasing its revenue through more aggressive appliance merchandising activities and extension of its mains, the Associated System's gas revenue has increased 32% since 1921.

With gas and electric properties in widely diversified territories it should share largely in the increased use of gas in the home and in industry.

Stock Letters.

New York, October 18.—Today's market opened lower and in spite of a decline in the call rate to 5 per cent; a very to severe liquidation, from which only will fally was experienced toward the very close, The technical position of the market appears to have been weakened by extensive jurchases of weak holder in recent sessions. Large investment interests who have liquidiated are putting out more funds on call than the market immediately requires, accounting for the lower rate.

There seems no reason, however, to regard he current break as the beginning of a car market, any more than other similar reaks this year and last, and in the ear of further aggravated market weakes we believe the purchase of first class is, rails, and specialty industrials should are profitable.

There continued a good demand for spots in the south and while the goods markets were less active, mills were firm in their ideas as to values. Exports were large but not as big as for this week last year, 314,000 bales vs. 406,000, and while the week's in sight was of record-breaking proportions, 1,014,000 vs. 92,000 last year, 390,000 last year. The world's visible of American increased 613,003 bales for the week against an increase for corresponding week last year of 548,000. Weekly statistics therefore were moderately bearish but apparently already discounted.

DAY IN FINANCE

R. L. BARNUM

New York, October 18.—Stock prices dipped again at the opening, the heaviest selling being in Radio and American Telephone and Telegraph. These stocks were down 5 points in early trading with selling pressure also heavy on public utilities and old leaders including Steel common.

All of the early losses were made up before the end of the first hour after which there was a resumption of selling, then a moderate recovery, followed by a period of extreme inactivity during the noon hour with traders watching the tug of war struggle going on between the bulls and the bears in Montgomery Ward, expecting the results to give a clew to the trend of the market as a whole.

The Rev. Mr. Blair complained of Nicholson that "I have heard him villify the gentlemen of the council, using to them the approbrious names of rogue, rascal, cheat, dog, villain and coward, and swear that he valued them no more than the dirt under his feet and would reduce them to their primitive nothing."

With the clergy and the governor at swords' points the college suffered. The principal was Mungo Ingles, a partisan of the governor. The papers contain Mr. Blair's complaint that when he stopped at the college on Christmas eve his door was barricaded by the students, and he learned afterward that they carried arms. He was unable to believe that this was an instance of spontaneous rowdyism.

This charge so aroused Ingles that he wrote to the governor: "I think it my duty to inform your excellency at the world and eventually bringing about his death in 1827 under most dramatically tragic circumstances.

Lyric Famous Challenges presents incidents in the life of Ludwig Beethoven, supplemented with musical interpolation, as the program to be broadcast over WSB and the N. B. C. coast-to-coast system tonight at Beethoven, one of music's greatest figures, was born in Born on the Rhine in 1770, and gave every evidence of extraordinary talent before he was 8 years old, when he made his first public appearance. His youth was tragic, poverty-stricken and miscrable.

He moved to Vienna in 1700.

He moved to Vienna in 1792, where he astonished all by the brilliancy of his playing and the fascination which he exerted by his remarkable improvi-zations. He began to win the atten-tion of the world through the power

The Lovely Bride.

The Lovely Bride.

The lovely bride, who entered with her father, C. L. Newton, by whom she was given in marriage, was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, A. J. Péebles, of Chattanooga. She wore a gown of white satin fashioned with long waist and graceful, full skirt artistically inset with long panels which fell gracefully, falling to the modish uneven hemline. The long tight sleeves, which fell over the wrists of the bride were a feature of the lovely model. Her misty white tulle veil was caught to her head in cap effect, a wide bandeau of real lace extending across the front of the head and falling in graceful cascades on each side of the head beneath clusters of orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was a magnificent sheaf of bride's roses and valley lilies, showered with valley lilies and tied with streamers of white satin ribbon. Her only ornament was a string of pearls.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the nome of the bride on Tenth street. Dahlias, the shades of pink and white predominating, and other fall flowers were artistically used in decoration. Miss Florine Willis assisted in entertaining. Miss Louise Burdette kept the bride book.

Chapel Hill, N. C., October 8.—When Greek meets Greek they start a tug of war or a restaurant. When Notre Dame system meets Notre Dame system most anything may happen, from homicide to mayhem. Nothing less. That is what is scheduled for Kenan stadium Saturday afternoon when the game Bulldogs meet the North Carolina Tarheels.

Chuck Collins' Tarheels, fresh from their victory over Georgia Tech last week in Atlanta, will meet Georgia's Bulldogs, flushed from their victory over the Yale Bulldogs on last Saturday. The struggle is expected to be one of the most titanic ever written into the annals of southern football.

Both teams are ready. The listlessess that gripped the Georgia Bullogs for a few days after their victory ver Yale has been dissipated by the mic of impending danger. Any over-middence that might have been nurred in the breasts of the North Caronians was removed by the flawless ghting victory which Georgia scored car Yale with the amazed Tarheels.

They showed it yesterday, and aches had difficulty concealing their light. This afternoon they frisked out Kenan field like a lot of colts rued loose in a pasture lot.

lineup that starts will be

The lineup that starts will be practically the same as the one which stopped Vale. That was the plan after practice today.

Herb Maffett is picked to start at end in Kelly's place. The remainder of the team will be the same, with Vernon Smith at the other end. Bobby Rose and Theo Frisbee at tackles, the two redheads at guards. Red Leathers and Red Maddox, and Captain Joe Boland at center. In the backfield little Chief Armin Waugh and Marian Dickens will run at the halves, with Dickens will run at the halves, with Benny Rothstein at fullback and Austie Downs at quarter. That line-up can öffer a well-diversified attack

MUST BE FAST.

The Bulldog forwards know that they must do what Tech did not do, charge through and hurry the Tarheel attack. Then the Carolina backfield is not the fastest starting quartet in footbal, and a charging line can bring them a lot of grief. This is sure to be North Carolina's hardest game.

The Tarbeels will be facing a very The Tarheels will be facing a very different situation on Saturday from what they encountered last Friday at Tech Flats. Once Tom Jones went out of the game, the Tarheels were not greatly worried by the young Tech ends. Georgia has four good ends. One of the unusual features of the Georgia team is the rapidity with which the material has been developed by Harry Mehre and Frank Thomas. Georgia's tackles will be of a better variety than those the Tarheels had to face at Atlanta.

GEORGIA WINNER.

GEORGIA WINNER.

There is much to say on the Georgia side and it is not sectional or local pride alone which has this correspondent out on a pair of verbal flat feet with Georgia as the winner.

North Carolina has quite a football team. It will be the same one that faced Tech. Chuck Collins, the astute and fine little coach of the Tarheels, will not be able to start his regular quarterback, Wyrick. House can play if back, Wyrick. House can play if necessary, but will not, says Collins. He is the fullback. Neither of them played against the

SUFFERING CHUCK.

It is with no little pleasure that The Constitution prints an interview with "Chuck" Collins, North Carolina's head coach, in which Collins tells Ralph McGill the sort of football Georgia Tech played.

Coach Collins says that Tech played, and always has played, clean football. Specifically he says that Tom Jones did NOT slug or knee his fullback, Hardin. Presumably Coach Collins talked with Hardin after the affair.

The Bulldogs should win tomorrow afternoon. They have the power and the plays. Georgia has a more diversified attack than North Carolina. They five minutes ever imagined for a moment that Tom played fla-It affords this column a graceful opening to say that no man of grant football. Tom Jones is not that sort of a boy.

There are very, very few football players in the world that play intentionally dirty football, and certainly Tom Jones does not belong in that class.

Football actually develops character. It does not make sneaks or thugs out of boys. And Tom Jones' character needed no development.

TO THE CRY-BABIES.

Coach Collins' statement—certainly he was not called on to comment further on that game-also clears the way for a few more words that have been burning here under my vest ever since last Friday.

They could not be said earlier. They would have constituted an alibi for Tech, and therefore unwelcome

The cry-baby brigade always screams about slugging and right on down the field. kneeing when their favorite teams are licked. When Alabama was winning every game, Alabama played "dirty" football, so the cry-babies said. Since Tech reached a peak of gridiron power, those of a certain mentality have squawked of unfair

Any observer who saw flagrant football played in the North Carolina game last Friday was blindly partisan or else merely a half-baked critic.

It is a pity that the game must be exposed to the blundering influence of incompetent officials and immature writers, but that is unavoidable.

Some way should be found to keep young officials in solitary confinement before big games so that they may not be "prepared" for trouble by having to listen to the cry-baby brigade howl.

The cry-babies and chronic anti's, to serve their own malicious ends, like to pour into the ears of officials a tale of all forms of football violence that may be expected.

The official who ejected Tom Jones for "slugging" was simply mistaken; he meant well. All of us boot one now and then, even in the bond or the butcher business. Which is enough of that ancient history.

THE FLORIDA SPIRIT.

Harold Cooledge heard of a big paint contract open in Tampa, so he wired his crack Florida salesman to go there at once to sew up the job.

Yesterday he received the following wire from the salesman in answer:

"Your telegram instructing me to go to Tampa not received. See you at Tech field Saturday.' There is nothing to do but stand up and award the chaplet

Georgia Tech's Engineers will form today on the brown sod of Grant field to repel the attack of the fresh, flourishing Florida Alligators and try to regain a position of vantage in the conference campaign.

Kick-off time has been set a half hour earlier to give the combatants plenty of time to settle the burning question before dark. At 2 o'clock a melodramatic scene will be unwound that holds inexpressible satisfaction for the winner, misery for the loser.

Florida's flashy eleven that lost only one game last season is returning inone game last season is returning intact for the new campaign and has a perfect season record. Southern Collegé, Virginia Military Institute and Auburn are the victims to date. Georgia Tech beat the Mississippi Aggies, lost to North Carolina and is deemed to have reached something like their best possible form for the game today. The contest is called an even battle with the issue turning on what are called the breaks of the game. It would take the last of a long line of sand diviners to accord to either team an edge before the kick-off.

Transylvania Licks Union Eleven, 33-6

Lexington, Ky., October 18.—(P)— Using the second team throughout, the Transylvania College Pioneers defeat-ed Union College, of Barbourville, Ky., here today, 33 to 6. It was Transyl-vania's third victory this year against one defeat and a tie with Sewanee. Curtice, Taylor and Sheets made touchdowns for Transylvania, Sheets scoring twice, while Howard account-ed for Union's score on a sensational run of a kickoff in the third guarter.

BEST BACKFIELD.

Everyone around here tonight admits that Tennessee has the better backfield—even Alabama supporters. The mountaineers, however, start talking about something else when the conversation drifts around to the line. They are just hoping that Johnson, Saunders, Fuller, Thayer and Finney can attend to Clement, Miller Sington, Howard and Ebert. It will be a glorious battle down there in the dirt; we werth traveling a long way to see.

Tennessee followed Alabama and took the usual workout. Neither Wade nor Neyland had much to say. They have prepared their boys and the answer to that all-important question of who will win will be spelled out tomorrow afternoon on Shields-Watkins field. And, unless I am sadly mistaken, the linemen will do most of the spelling. I think that Tennessee will be better at this task and win the football game. A good little man has football game. A good little man has often beaten a big heavy one.

Chapel, Hill, N. C., October 18.
With a heavy advance seat sale and first-rate football weather promised, indications tonight were that a record or near-record crowd will see North Carolina and Georgia lock horns here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

More than 15,000 reserved seats have been sold, but some 8,000 were still available tonight and all of them afford an excellent view of the field. Arrangements can be made to accommodate comfortably a crowd of 30,000.

to study the two attacks which are so much alike.

Georgia's seems to be more diversified, an opinion based on what the Tarheels showed at the Flats and what the Georgians have showed in three games. Most of the boys are seeing this as a pass attack against a pass attack.

Maybe so, but there will be quite a few plays when the boys take the football under their arm and lug it. The running game is the game after all. The best pass Georgia had last week was one Abbie Booth, of Yale, threw to Benny Rothstein, the Georgia fullback.

The Bulldogs have a good defensive

The Bulldogs have a good defensive team. After all, it was the defense that beat Yale. When Albie Booth was stopped the Georgians began their battle all over again.

So the game will resolve itself into the usual football game with the passes used at the crucial moments and not as the steady offensive diet.

And Georgia, with a good line and a diversified attack, should be the winner when the shadows fall through the pines atop the ramparts of Kenan and no injuries were responsed to the provided that the Bison line will average around 185 pounds.

A light practice was held by the Howard team and no injuries were reported, which indicates that Howard will start their full strength in today's battle.

PENNSYLVANIA-CALIFORNIA-At Philadelphia. The longest traveling on record for a regular season intersectional game. A contest that looks close and interesting, although so far neither team has shown much offensive power. Pennsylvania will have to show more than the Red and Blue has turned on so far, although Penn has two good backs to match Lom and others who will work for the Golden Bears. There should be good open play worth watching by the 75,000 or so who look on.

HARVARD-ARMY—At Cambridge. A game that may have a distinct bearing on eastern rankings. Harvard has much the better line—Army the more dangerous backfield, with Cagle, Murrel and others. Cagle is half a team when given anything like a chance. He may have his trouble today if the Army line doesn't improve, for the Crimson forwards are good enough to bother any offense. Harvard has a good backfield, but not a great one. If her defense can surround Cagle the Crimson side should win.

DARTMOUTH COLUMBIA—At New York. A meeting of two leading backfield stars will take place when Hewitt, of Columbia, and Marsters, of Dartmouth, get into action. Dartmouth looks to have more all-around strength and should win, but not by any decisive score. When Marsters is right there is no better back in the country. NOTRE DAME-WISCONSIN—At Chicago. Wisconsin will need every angle of her defense working to block the path of Rockne's fast, hard-running backs. Wisconsin is good this season, but Notre Dame is better and should win. The conference team will find it hard to gain any ground against Notre Dame's first squad, for the line is almost as good as the N. Y. U.-PENN STATE—At New York. N. Y. U. is well below last eason's standard, with so many stars missing, and Penn State has not been tested sufficiently to furnish any accurate line on its real strength. Bezdek, however, expected to have a better team than he had last season.

NORTHWESTERN-MINNESOTA-At Evanston. This will bring about clash between two of the strongest teams in the western conference both unbeaten, both out after the championship. Minnesota has a big, fast outfit, but Northwestern has the same. This is another one of those contests that will be close enough to have the breaks decide the battle.

If he has, the Nittany Lions should have the edge, but there won't be TENNESSEE-ALABAMA-At Knoxville. Two of the strongest teams in the south, both unbeaten, will meet to drop at least one likely contender from the race. Tennessee has the edge, with more backfield stuff, McEver being one of the season's stars. Alabama looks to have one of her best teams since the Crimson Tide was running high, but Tennessee has the edge.

GEORGIA TECH-FLORIDA-At Atlanta, A game Harvard scouts will watch with interest. Georgia Tech has eased off from last season and Florida looks to be fully as strong as she was a year ago. The beating Georgia Tech took from North Carolina will be a help. Not much to choose from in a meeting of two good backfields.

MICHIGAN-OHIO STATE-At Ann Arbor. The trimming that Michigan took from Purdue should give the Wolverines a better chance. Purdue is strong, but Michigan is stronger than the Maize and Blue looked be that day. Ohio State was good enough to edge out Iowa, but in this clash Michigan has a thin jump.

CORNELL-PRINCETON-At Ithaca. Princeton fell before Brown, but, for all that, Bill Rope's Tiger outfit has first-class possibilities. It should be strong enough to beat Cornell, although Dobie has a better team than

YALE-BROWN—At New Haven. Having beaten Princeton, Brown will now attempt to hook another member of the Old Triumvirate within a week. Brown has been erratic and Yale is below last year's stuff, with only fair backfield material—nothing to rave about. Brown has at least an even chance, possibly a shade

IOWA-ILLINOIS—At lowa City. A hard game for Zuppke's team, but one he should win. Illinois looks to be among the strongest four or five teams in the country, with another good shot at the western conference championship.

MacArthur and Boner Shine in 19-to-0 Victory at Flats.

Showing plenty of power and an eye for the breaks, Georgia Tech's freshman gridders scored a 19 to 0 victory over the Aggies of Monroe A. and M. on the Rose Bowl field Friday aft-

The Junior Jackets, green but willing to mix things, scored in the first quarter on a long march, most of which was covered in the air. Trying the line and finding it no go, the frosh sent MacArthur, speedy halfback, around end for a 20-yard trip into enemy territory. Boner then dropped back and flung a long pass to MacArthur from the Aggie 54-yard stripe, MacArthur carrying it across the line for the first tally. Boner drop-kicked the extra point. Coach Kid Clay, Junior Jacket mentor, started a parade of substitues almost immediately and play throughout the remainder of the half was, while largely on Aggie soil, to

FURIOUS DRIVE.

At the start of the third period the Jacket rats opened up a drive on their own 40-yard line which saw the Aggie line crumble before a furious assault and the Aggie ends stagger under a heavy fire. MacArthur swept around the flanks while Cain plunged the line. Cain carrying the ball on the touchdown play from the nine-yard line. Boner's try for the point was blocked.

The Aggies rose to new heights after this last score and threatened seriously for a time, forcing the play to Tech ground. A last-minute stand by the rat line brought on a punting duel which cost the Aggies another tally. A fumbled punt was recovered by Singleton on Monroe's 7-yard line and MacArthur and Cain smashed it over in two tries. The kick for the extra point was wide.

With the score at 19-0, Clay again injected his reserves and they immediately became a target for a pass attack conducted by the Aggies, which was halted by the final whistle just 4 yards short of a score.

Great Backs Match Speed and Wits Today as Big Teams Battle.

By Walter Trumbull.

New York, October 18 .-Pick tomorrow's football winters and earn yourself the title of a first-class prophet. California, Southern California and Stanford are usually the big elevens of the Pacific coast. Washington is about the only team that trims any of them, and this season Washington's isn't so much.

Stanford came to New York last autumn and massacred the Army. Moreover, while we had been warned look out for certain backs on the Stanford team, Pope Warner trotted out a lot of other backs unknown to easterners and these unknowns all look ed almost as good as Chris Cagle, and when you say that about a ball carrier you have said plenty.

to, now that California is about to So, now that California is about to play Pennsylvania, we are told to save both eyes for Benny Lom. Benny is advertised as one of those great western backs who can run like the Mississippi in flood time, dodge like a witness at a senate inquiry, and kick like a dissatisfied customer trying to get his money back. It may be so.

WATCH OTHERS.

WATCH OTHERS.

But I—for my part—shall keep at least one eye in action for some of those other backs. If this team is anything like Stanford, there will, at some point in the contest, be an upheaval on the bench where the substitutes are parked and the blanket will be taken off some Bull Moose measuring six feet to the shoulders and with a record for the 100 yards of 9 3-5 seconds, or else a full grown jack rabbit, holding the world's record for leaping wide and handsome will be produced. Yes, sir. I'll keep an eye on Benny Lom, but I shall not be surprised to see other performers aside from Benny.

This is said by some to be a great California eleven and by others to be not so good. Pennsylvania had better be prepared for a tough opponent. In no form of athletics has the west been sending any setups east. California always has had the reputation of being a fine defensive team. If Penn had entertained them last season, the strength of this defense would certainly have been tried.

Princeton certainly has more good looking material than Cornell, but must get more out of it than it has to date to beat the Ithaca eleven. on the run of a season, however. the box work of the Athletics could hardly be expected to sag to a point where the present Yankee corps could match it. Bob Shawkey's first problem, therefore, will be to add strength in the box without counting definitely upon either Hoyt or Pennock. So fortified, Shawkey then would be prepared to treat any success of the two former stars as an extra dividend. Hoyt, in particular, is fairly certain to do better than he did in 1929, but Pennock has reached the age where each new season for him will be problematical. lematical.

YANK CATCHERS.

So long as Mickey Cochrane has a leg to stand upon and an arm to throw with, the Macks will have an edge over the present Yankee catching corps, but Bill Dickey and Arndt Jorgens are some better than any other receiving staff in the league, except the one made up of Cochrane. Shawkey must devote some thought to the outfield and to the left side of to the outfield and to the left side of the infield, but the arrival of Dusty Cook from St. Paul may solve a great part of the outfield problem. A few minutes later in the fourth quarter Howard, of Boys' High, attempted to pass but lost the ball as he was tackled by Suddeth. Fullback Out

Washington, October 18.—(United News)—Recurrence of a pre-season back injury today caused Johnny Hudak, Georgetown's regular fullback, to the dropped from the line-up for to-season morrow's game with West Virginia wesleyan. Hudak is one of the Hogania wesleyan. Hudak is one of the Hogania wesleyan with only five yards to yas' best ball toters.

I always managed to break through and stop the Athens players.

With the beginning of the second half the first-string Athens players received the ball and marched with it down the field, only to fumble on the 10-yard line. Hartwell punted and the local boys again carried the ball and again they fumbled. But with three minutes to play Hartwell punted on the bed repoped from the line-up for to-be dropped from the line-up for the local boys again carried the ball and again they fumbled. But with three minutes to play Hartwell punted on the fight with Warren, who was putting up a game exhibition and held a short lead to points until the final round, Warren falling for the final round, Warren appears to the hall and the local boys again carried the ball and the local boys again carried

1930 YANKEES by W.O. Mc Geehan

Out of the dim past of intercollegiate football, when the players wore laced canvas jackets and the flying wedge was the height of strategy, comes a protest against the conduct of the game today. Vance McCormick, captain of the Yale team of '92, makes a point that has been made frequently and has been ignored quite as frequently as it has been made.

Speaking through "The Yale Daily News," Mr. McCormick says: "The modern football game is more of a contest of wits of the coaches than a contest of players and captains. Self-reliance and qualities of leadership would be taught by allowing captains and players to campaign their games. Too much stress is placed upon the coach, and not enough on the game.

"In the old days Yale had good coaches, but none of them ever attempted to coach from the side lines or to send in substitutes. The displacement of the captain by the coach has left the captain with an empty title, and no complete responsibility resting either with him or with his team. When the team takes the field the captain should be in supreme command and nobody from the side lines should have anything to do

All of this has been quite obvious. Football is supposed to develop initiative and quick thinking among the students who play it. How can there be any initiative when all the moves of a team in action are directed by a professional coach? I have asked this question myself many times before, and the answers have been particularly evasive. Any coach will tell you that it would be dangerous to leave the initiative in such a crucial matter as a football game to the judgment of a captain or a mere group of students. They would be sure to do the wrong thing in the stress of conflict and would forget all that they had been taught. To which one might retort, "What of it?" which would place one in the light of regarding a serious matter, such as intercollegiate football has become, with unseemly levity.

I heard a discussion of this point at a football coaches' meeting some years ago. Mr. Tad Jones, who was then actively engaged in coaching Yale, rose in the meeting and said, "I think that it would be a good idea f we would agree upon letting the teams absolutely alone once the whis-

We are not supposed to coach the teams while they are in the field, but you know that we all do it. My idea is for us to agree to cut it out in future."

There was an oppressive silence in the meeting. The assembled coaches were astonished by the frankness—or should we say naivete? of Mr. Jones, of Yale. Mut the silence was broken by Mr. Gilmour Dobie of Cornell. He rose, a fine frenzy gleaming in his eyes. "The football game," said Mr. Dobie, "is more than a mere contest between two teams. It is a contest between all the resources of the colleges involved. Everything that a college has should go into the game. for one, never would agree not to use all that I have to make the team I represent win the game.'

The voice of Mr. Dobie became more and more impassioned as he continued. All the other coaches maintained a solemn silence and all of them seemed to feel that it was a very awkward subject to be brought up at a coaches' meeting just at a time when it seemed that a pleasant time was being had by all.

So far as I know that subject never was brought up at a subsequent coaches' meeting, and we are left to infer that the coaches still direct the movements of their husky marionettes in the field.

Taking It Seriously.

In insisting that football is far too important a matter to be intrusted to the management of mere students, it strikes me that the coaches are furnishing material to those who have been arguing that intercollegiate football is being emphasized to the point of distortion. Far be it from me to irritate a coach of Mr. Dobie's extreme seriousness, but it does not appear that Cornell football teams under the constant direction of Mr. Dobie, off and on the field, have been going anywhere in particular.

If I recall correctly, I have advanced the notion that if a football team is under the constant direction of a professional coach during the progress of a game the sport is semi-professional. The brawn is amateur and the brain is professional. To have a successful football team the college must have not only the material, but must buy the best coaching brains possible. I think that the prices said to be paid for coaching brains are exaggerated, but they are high enough.

In the days when Vance McCormick in his laced canvas jacket posed for his picture on the Yale fence for the football guide of decades ago, the game of intercollegiate football was comparatively simple. The coach had a limited number of plays to impart, and these were so elemental that no player could get them mixed up. Mr. McCormick is quite right as to the in-fluence of the coach in his time. Who can remember a coach of the days of Vance McCormick?

But the game has become complicated considerably since the days he mass momentum plays-so complicated that it cannot be intrusted to the mere student. The strategy has become altogether too involved, The fact that students cannot be intrusted with their teams on the field must be attributed by inference to one of two things—either the coaches cannot teach it thoroughly or the students are too dumb to learn it.

The Prof and the Coach. One might apply the same theory to the academic side. T is at least as intricate as modern football. The prof does his best to ground the students in the fundamentals, as they would say when mentioning the more romantic subject of intercollegiate football.

But, supposing that when examination day came around the frigonometry prof should elect to coach his trigonometry class from the side lines. It is my notion that a class in trigonometry might be much more in need of advice and direction at such a moment than would any captain or quarterback of a football team in its most crucial game.

But the trigonometry prof does not seem to be quite as much interested in a victory for his class as the football coach is for a victory for his team. You can trust the trigonometry prof to abstain from coaching orally or by signal at such a crisis. But the football coach cannot resist the temptation to attempt ironing out any errors that might affect the progress of the team. It is recognized that the trigonometry course is merely preparatory.

The theory is that the coaching for football also is merely preparatory, and undertaken for the purpose of preparing the players to think and act fof themselves under the stress of action. But the practice is altogether different and shoots some very gaping holes in the theory advanced for the game.

It seems that nobody can regard it as a mere game, so there must be justification.

Tide Uncovers Freshman Star

Hornsby Hints He Would Like Pilot's Job-Legs Are Failing.

By George Kirksey.

New York, October 18 .--(United News.) - Rogers Hornsby has played with three National league teams in the past three years and there is more than one reason to believe that he will play with some other team than the Chicago Cubs in 1930.

Hornsby has spent 15 active seasons in the major leagues and he is nearing the end of his days as a player.

It is one of the sore spots of Hornsby's life that he was traded away from the St. Louis Cardinals after he had led the club to the world championship in 1926.

From many sources it has been learned that Hornsby is ready to rest on his laurels as a player, and turn his attention again to the managerial field.

Hornsby was a great disappointment to the Chicago fans in the world series against the Philadelphia Athletics. Shrewd baseball men noted that Hornsby's legs are going back on him. They also noted that his batting eye against American league pitchers was weaker than against National league moundsmen. Out of 22 times at bat in the world series, Hornsby fanned eight times. He had the third strike called on him carrent limits.

The Chicago Cubs are going to make efforts to strengthen their club. It is rumored that they are after Dazzy rumored that they are after Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn star pitcher.

Wilbert Robinson's contract as manager of the Brooklyn club has expired. The Robins probably will have a new leader next season.

It is said that Hornsby dropped a hint in Philadelphia during the world series that he would welcome a chance to manage the Brooklyn club.

Furthermore, "Rajah," who is one of the richest active players in baseball, intimated he might be willing to buy a large share of stock in the Brooklyn club.

Hornsby is 33 and he has led a strenuous life on the diamond during the past five seasons. So, with him

Undefeated Teams Clash Today.

Clash Today.

New York, October 18.—(P)—Battles of undefeated eastern college football elevens will attract thousands of spectators tomorrow.

Army invades the Harvard stadium to meet a team that has shown signs of winning its way back into the football sun. The experts disagree as to whether Harvard's line can check Cagle, star Army back.

Dartmouth comes to New York to play Columbia. These unbowed elevens, each with high scoring stars in their line-ups, promise one of the most thrilling games of the day.

At Philadelphia the University of California plays Pennsylvania in-the biggest intersectional fray. California chances look good to many experts.

Some of the east's mighty will be striving to regain prestige lost by poor showings in the early season combats. Yale, which bowed before Georgia, will stack up at New Haven against a Brown team which has shown signs of strength after a weak start. Princeton, beaten by Brown, will strive to recoup at Ithaca, N. Y., against an undefeated Cornell team.

Besides the Columbia-Dartmouth clash. New York will see a couple will strive to recoup at Ithaca, N. I., against an undefeated Cornell team.

Besides the Columbia-Dartmouth clash, New York will see a couple other first class encounters. New York University will entertain Penn State and an inspired Fordham team will combat another Jesuit eleven, Holy Cross.

Penn State will face a team enraged by a 26-to-0 defeat last week at the hands of Fordham.

Navy entertains Duke and West Virginia looks good to the experts to emerge victorious over Washington & Jefferson battles Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh and the result is quite in doubt.

Pittsburgh, strong again this year, theets a heavy Nebraska team on its loome grounds; Colgate travels to Bloomington to beard Indiana in its den, and Boston College plays Dayton in its home territory.

Undefeated after these blows and offered little resistance when Hoffman crossed his right repeatedly to the head for the knockout.

New York, October 19.—(United News)—Holy Cross' undefeated squad of 32 arrived late today and worked out at the Polo Grounds in preparation for tomorrow's game with Fordham. Fordham continued its program of secret practice.

Tarzen groped about the recking, oozy den. . He found that he was imprisoned in a subterranean chamber amply large enough to have accommodated a dozen or so of the huge animals such as the one that had dragged him thither. He realized that he was in the creature's hidden nest far under the bank of the stream and doubtless the only hope of escape was through the submerged opening. MERCHANDISE water? There might be turns and windings in the neck of the passage. Or, most to be feared, he might meet another of the slimy inhabitants of this den upon his journey outward. Still there was no alternative, and, filling his lungs with the close and reeking air of the chamber, Tarzan of the Apes dived into the dark and watery hole.

the leg which had been held within the jaws of the crocodile was badly lacerated, but the bone was not broken, nor the muscles or tendons sufficiently injured to render it useless. It gave him excruciating pain. But Tarzan was accustomed to pain from sharper teeth than a crocodile's. Rapidly he crawled and swam downward through the passage. Then it inclined upward and opened at last into apartment building at 2909 Peachtree road, to contain 24 family units. Work on this development is to be started at once, it was stated. Eleventh Street.

Plans for erection of an 11-story apartment house structure to cost approximately $375,000 and to be loports of the past few weeks. According to the report given out Friday the structure will take its place among the foremost residential edifices of the city. It is to be built by William Wilson, well-known businessman and head of the William Wilson Company. In a statement given out Friday by Mr. Wilson, the reports current in building circles of the construction project were characterized as being somewhat premature. Tentative plans for the Il-story building, Mr. Wilson said, were being prepared by A. Ten Eyek Brown, architect, and these could not be made definite at this time.

could not be made definite at this time.

The plans for the development outlined in the Manufacturers' Record call for a reinforced concrete and brick structure of the fireproof type. It is to contain 154 family units and be serviced with three elevators. The construction details indicate it will be of the modern ornate style, finished in Indiana limestone trim. with built-up roof and terrazzo and composition floors.

The structure is to occupy a large tract of land in the close-in residential section that has been favored for many of the larger apartment developments of the state banking act.' It will front 200 feet on the west side of West Peachtree street, extending back 250 feet to Spring street.

Adjoining the site and facing Spring street will be a two-story garage, measuring 100 by 200 feet, the plans indicate. Associated with A. Ten Eyck Brown as architect will be A. Barili, Jr., the Record states.

Mr. Wilson recently announced plans for construction of a three-story rant action by the plaintiff.

WITH PLAN FOR NEW

TAX SLASH SOON

Washington, October 18.—(P)—A plan for making another tax cut in the regular session of congress under which both earned incomes and corporation levies would be sliced is being worked out by Representative Garager of Texas, the development of Texas, th

ner, of Texas, the democratic leader.
Garner said he would propose a reduction of from $300,000,000 to $400,600,000, almost $200,000,000 of which would be taken off the corporation tax. He added that he also favored a further reduction of the levies on earned incomes rned incomes.

The democratic leader said that the growing treasury surplus was a vir-tual assurance that a large reduction could be made. He believed only a business slump could prevent it.

Washington, October 18.—(P)—The virtual world monopoly which German has held in the dye industry has of only been broken but American products of factories which hold a key need invading the markets from which they involved the continuation of the position in national degense are now invading the markets from which they one were forced to buy.

Statistics made public today by the department of commerce show that in 1914 the total domestic production of synthetic dyes amounted to 7,000,000 pounds. Spurred on by necessity after the German supply was cut off by the war, it had risen to 85,000,000 pounds in 1920 and in 1927 had reached a figure of 95,167,905 pounds.
